Regional Testing Site - Sainsbury's Site, Middlesbrough

Good morning everybody

There was a site visit yesterday at the above location between Deloitte and Sainsbury's and the owners seem accommodating for the site's use as a regional testing centre. A new plan for the site's use is being drawn up by Deloitte as there will be construction work occurring on the site in about six weeks' time so it needs factoring into the plan. The Sainsbury's representative said they should have a decision by the end of the working day today.

Deloitte wanted the site preparation to begin on Wednesday but Sainsbury's weren't as keen on it happening so fast so there might be a slight delay on this and the site might not go live till next week should the decision be given.

There was a further site visit planned for today with representatives from the Cleveland Police and the Council but this has been put on hold until we hear from Deloitte about the time line.

If there's anything further, I will be in touch

Richard
